Feel Alive

River park compound at New Zayed City is marvel of modern architecture, with standalone and twinhouse villas and sprawlin green spaces. It was designed to be a haven for those who are seeking a comfortable and luxurious lifestyle, away from the hustle and bustle of the city.

The background of the slide is a detailed architectural master plan of a large building complex. The plan is drawn in a light, sketchy style on a textured, parchment-like paper. It features a central circular area with concentric rings, possibly representing a courtyard or a large hall. Surrounding this central area are various rectangular and irregular building footprints, interconnected by a network of corridors and paths. Some areas are shaded with fine lines, indicating different materials or levels. The overall layout is symmetrical and organized, typical of a formal institutional or academic building design.
